HARRIS TELLS VIEWS ABOUT MEXICO AFTER MALE GLEE CONCERT

College President Delivers Illustrated Talk On Neighborhood

President Franklin S. Harris is to give an illustrated lecture on "Mexico Yesterday and Today" in College Hall at 8:30 tonight. According to President Harris he will use over 100 slides that were made from pictures that he took on his trip thru Mexico, Mexico, and Mexico. He says that Mexico is a very interesting country, having had churches there 100 years before the landing of the Pilgrin fathers in America, and it is six times as densely populated as Utah. President Harris just recently returned from a 7,500 mile trip lasting 6 weeks in which he visited the principal part of Mexico, including the ruins at Mitla, San Juan de los Rios, and Mexico. President Harris has a very good opportunity to study conditions in Mexico and to get acquainted with the people.

Y Alumni Lead Utah Legislative Houses

It is a coincidence that Ray E. Dillman, State Senator, and James C. Hacking, State Representative, both born in Utah, and both Y. Y. U. Alumni, should be elected to lead their respective legislative bodies.

Mr. Dillman, called by the Salt Lake Tribune the "handsome man" of the Senate, graduated from the B. Y. High school in 1910. During the period prior to his graduation he was active in student affairs, especially in debating. He was above average in his studies.

Representative Hacking attended the "Y" for two years, 1902-1904, after having attended the old Utah Academy. He was registered in the department of Business. He, too, took an important part in student affairs.

Mr. Hacking is one of a large pioneer family, a large number of whom have been students at B. Y. U.

Other "Y" Alumni in the Legislature are Seth Allen, Castle Dale; Peter C. Peterson, Jr., Ephraim; John W. Mills, Ogden; Clark Callister, Fillmore; Wm. C. Horsley, Brigham City; and Horace L. Richards, Fielding.

Brimhall Speaks On Religion Of Colleges

Before more than 160 listeners Dr. Brimhall encouraged the use of college slogans, in an address given in College Hall, Tuesday morning. His subject was, "College Slogans in the Religion of Our Times."

He said, "Religion cannot escape being thought about. The slogan of the college is 'Religion.' Think it through, is one that can be applied to this subject." College students become so absorbed in various studies that they forget religion.

Dr. Brimhall likened each phase of college life to a window and religion as the key stone.

Juniors Toil Mightily To Make This Year's Prom Best in History

Theme Is "Garden Of Dreams," States General Chairman Kelly

On February 6th the Ladies' gym will have been changed into a garden of dreams—real and tangible dreams that the Junior class has woven together to make a setting for one of the most beautiful and best Proms the "Y" has ever had.

Committees have for some time been busy working and planning for this great yearly event. Howard Kelly, chairman, is well pleased with the work of his many assistants so far, and anticipates more busy weeks for his aides in order that every phase of the dance will be worked out to perfection.

Sina Brimhall, chairman of invitations, reports that the response from the student body has been hearty. Three hundred invitations have been sent.

The matter of refreshments is under fittingly careful consideration, with Ora Haws heading the committee. S. A. D. Green, in charge of lighting, is working on some clever modernistic effects that will contribute to the general loveliness of the "Garden of Dreams."

Monta Wentz heads the decoration committee, which is laboring daily on decoration of original charm.

With these people in charge everything should be in readiness for the great night, Friday, February 6, when the dream-garden is opened to the dancers.

RICH AND JENSEN LECTURE

"Shaping the Attitudes of Youth" was the subject treated by Mrs. Stella Rich and Mr. C. L. Jensen, both of the Brigham Young university secondary school in their address to Leadership week visitors. The assembly was held in Room 260 E at 9:30. The room was filled to capacity with visitors and students.

Mrs. Rich used as her theme the studying of literature as a contribution for shaping these attitudes. Mr. Jensen's address was on the subject of science as a tool for developing the attitudes of youth.

Dean Merrill Invites People To Inspect Training School

All parents and interested visitors are urged by Dr. Amos N. Merrill dean of the College of Education, to visit the various departments of the Secondary Training School, which is organized in three divisions, elementary, junior high and senior high.

Parents interested in the work of student-teachers working in co-operation with regular city teachers are invited to visit any class or department at any hour of the day between 8:00 A. M. to 3:00 P. M. Demonstrations in the latest devices of educational technique will be shown, and teachers will discuss the conduct and nature of the work.

Information may be obtained at the office of the principal in the upper floor of the Training building.

PRESIDENT HEBER I. GRANT SPEAKS IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY TODAY

A. W. Ivins Discusses Our Economic Future

Says Christian Ethics Needed In Business

President A. W. Ivins presented an analysis of our economic life and suggested possible developments which may be expected in the future in a lecture delivered at the general assembly Tuesday. "What we need," the speaker said, "is a general clearing up in politics, a curbing of the extravagant habits of spending, and the application of Christian charity to modern business ethics and practice."

Our present world-wide economic depression, as seen by President Ivins is the result of lavish spending, overproduction, the extension of the principle of credit in business to a dangerous limit. The disaster was precipitated by the expansion induced to the World War, and a main line exhibited by the masses of the people in the continuance of ample markets for our products and high wages for services.

Church Leads In Recreation Plan

Addressing a group of Leadership week visitors Tuesday morning Joseph F. Smith of the speech department of the U. of U. and representative of the M. M. M. council of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, said "Recreation must be founded upon human behavior and a clear understanding of the need of society."

Mormon society of today is not what it was fifty years ago. The demands of fifty years hence will not be the same as those of today, therefore any such program should be made to fit the people and not vice versa.

Our present condition in the world today is caused by improper organization of leisure time, and can only be overcome by proper organization. This can be brought about by our church organization, as it sets forth what we term a balanced life. A balanced life consists of physical, physical, fitness, work, play, rest, leisure and contemplation.

Stage "Hand-Shake" Tonight

Tonight at 9:30, in the Ladies' Gym the Leadership week recreational committee promises the ultimate in recreation. They have planned a "hand-shake" dance, as is the custom for all Leadership weeks, but they have given some original touches to the "mitt-clasp" by subjecting the carnival spirit into it by making it a costume affair.

Out of space "Leadershipers" may feel a trifle left out on the matter of obtaining suitable disguises and ornaments, on the spur of the moment, but again the admirable powers-that-be

WOODWARD ANNOUNCES FOUR GREAT FEATURES FOR SUMMER SESSION

Four unusual educational features will characterize the 1931 Summer School, according to Dean Hugh M. Woodward, who is in charge. These features are a Physical Education, Recreation, Athletic and Playground program for coaches, directors of gymnasiums, playground supervisors and others interested in recreation work; Religious Education, headed by Dr. William C. Graham of the University of Chicago, one of the outstanding students of the Old Testament; Secondary Education, especially in the fields of Junior and Senior High Schools, with Dr. Forest E. Lord of New York University at its head; and a lecture course on which

PRES. HARRIS STRIKES AT THE TOBACCO HABIT

"Upholding L. D. S. ideals by the Non-use of Tobacco," was the theme used by President Franklin S. Harris of the Brigham Young university in an address before a class in the Little Theatre, Tuesday morning at 10:30 A. M. Dr. Harris said, "Tobacco is a habit acquired in life moments that is most difficult to overcome. By effort much can be accomplished in checking this evil. We must have charity for those who are weak, and the seminaries are a splendid aid in inspiring high ideals."

Dr. Maughn gave an illustrated talk showing the effects of Tobacco poison.

PARAMOUNT PRESENTS PAGEANT SHOW FREE

A special showing of the Mormon Centennial Pageant in sound pictures will be shown at the Paramount theatre Thursday at 11:45. There will be no charge for Leadership visitors.

President Heber I. Grant gives an interesting introductory talk at the beginning of the film.

Sound pictures of "The Messiah," filmed in the great Salt Lake tabernacle, will also be shown at this time.

are on deck to the rescue: all girls in the physical education department are brilliant accessories, for both men and women; everyone who finds it possible will bring a box containing a dowry to deck some member of the opposite sex. Each purveyor of disguise will number the box he brings and leaves it at the door. Then the lot will be scrambled and redistributed, and the box number designates each person's partner for the evening.

All sorts of getting acquainted games and devices will be featured.

Head Of Church Will Announce Own Subject

President Heber I. Grant of the L. D. S. church will be the principal speaker in the general assembly in College hall at 1:30 today; he will announce his own subject. Musical numbers will be furnished by Brigham Young university students under the direction of Dr. Franklin Madson, professor of music.

President Grant is the fourth speaker to appear in the Leadership week assemblies. Other men prominent in the state have been engaged to speak before the other assemblies this week.

CARNIVAL CANCELLED AS FACULTY FROWNS ON OVERNIGHT STAY

Due to faculty disapproval of holding the Ice and Snow Carnival overnight, the Carnival committee and the Board of Education of Brigham Young university have cancelled the proposed outing that was to be held Friday and Saturday of this week, January 30 and 31, according to F. Eldon Crowther, chairman of the carnival.

Such trouble arose in the conduct of persons at an overnight carnival held three or four years ago by the student body the faculty has frowned upon any overnight affair by an organization of students. In fact, according to President F. S. Harris of the university, the faculty has definitely ruled out such outings at any time.

Due to misunderstanding between the committee proposing the carnival and members of the social committee, as well as other faculty members concerned, (Continued on page 4)

Tanner Urges People To Preserve Natural Life

Vasco M. Tanner, professor of zoology and entomology of the Brigham Young university, gave a most interesting lecture before a large class attending Leadership week, Tuesday morning in Room 260 E.

The theme of Dr. Tanner's lecture was, "The Preservation of Plant and Animal Life in the State of Utah." He told of vast destruction of both and said we were wasting men and women to carry on the work of preservation in the most systematic order.

The loss of plant and animal life in the state is due to lack of knowledge. It takes centuries to develop trees and animal life. "Are we going to let nature's work be destroyed?" Dr. Tanner queried. "We stand for more education and more information in regard to our biology problems in this state," he continued.

Lost Leadership Gets Brief Directory Of College Buildings

I was in the Brigham Young university for the first time, and say that I had a lost feeling would express it mildly. Leadership Week was one thing, but being alone in this unfamiliar place looking for it, was not all it was cracked up to be. At the door of a structure just off University avenue a passably intelligent appearing female hove into view, so I sidled over and said, "Listen, sister, could you, in the full bloom of your untainted youth, show me which building is these-and-those?"

"Yes, sir," she says, with a light of comprehension breaking over her rather stolid countenance. "I'll start without preliminaries." (Good girl, said my mind approvingly) "This building," she resumed "which is, as you know, on the southwest corner of this block, is the Education building, on the east of this, directly across the hall, is the College building; across the road west of this block is the Ladies' gym; the training school is on the northeast corner of this square, and the Arts shack is over on the northwest. Of course, you have a program that will locate rooms in the various places, so you should have

Large Exhibit Of Vertebrates In Size

In room 312E and the Zoological laboratory there is displayed one of the largest and most completely determined exhibits of Great Basin Vertebrate Life in the state of Utah. All specimens with which it is possible to do are identified and displayed in jars and drawers for the convenience of those inspecting them.

The exhibit consists of fish, amphibians, birds, and mammals, and was gathered from all over the Great Basin region also from South America, and the Hawaiian Islands. And according to Dr. Vasco M. Tanner, head of the department, it provides ample material for students and all interested in vertebrates of Western America.

Women brought it on themselves: the revolution in styles tends to differentiate between the leisureed and the working classes—Jean Patou.

CESTA TIE HAVE FORMAL

A "winter street scene" was the theme used at the annual invitational formal dancing party of the Cesta Tie social unit Saturday evening at the First ward recreation hall.

Deep banks of "snow" formed an attractive decoration for the interior of the hall offset by street lamps and pine trees laden with "snow" and "icicles." The orchestra stand was a clever "house" artistically colored and decorated with various winter articles. Blue flood lights lent a winter reflection to all the objects of decoration.

In the receiving line were Miss Wilma Boyle, general chairman; Miss Maureen Welker, general chairman; Miss Wilma Jeppson, faculty sponsor; President and Mrs. J. W. Knight; Nettie Neff Smart, patrons; Beretli Banker and Byron Det.

A short business meeting was held by Gamma Phi Omicron sorority last Monday night at the apartment of La Pearl Bryner. Delicious refreshments were served carrying out the color scheme of green and white after which business was discussed. Chairmen of the formal and the birthday party were elected. Hostesses were Helen Alteman, La Pearl Bryner, Elizabeth Cannon, Esther Coombs and Maxine Chytton.

WOODWARD ANNOUNCES
B. Y. SUMMER SESSION

a number of the nation's and state's outstanding educators will appear.

"Of course the regular work of the under-graduates and graduates will be carried on during the Summer Quarter in the same manner that it is carried on during the other three quarters," Dr. Woodward said. "The Summer Quarter will merely be a regular quarter plus, made so by the addition of these outside faculty members. The school will be divided, as usual, into two terms. The first to be held during the first six weeks on the Provo campus, and the second during the last six weeks at the Alpine Campus at Aspen Grove."

The Physical Education and Coaching courses have been added to fill a need many teachers as well as coaches have had for advanced work in these fields, according to Dr. Woodward. J. B. Nash, probably America's most outstanding expert in the field of Physical Education, has been secured to head this school. Dr. Nash's work in playground supervision has been widely recognized. He is the author of several books on the subject of organization and administration of playgrounds and recreation, and is head of the Physical Education Department in New York University.

Coach G. Ott Romney, Miss Wilma Jeppson, Assistant Coach C. J. Hart Assistant Coach Fred "Buck" Dixon, and others will assist in these courses.

Dr. Wm. C. Graham, authority on the Old Testament, will follow in the field of Religious Education Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, who was at Brigham Young in 1910. Dr. Graham will teach courses in Old Testament History and Literature and will give several lectures in the General Assemblies," Dr. Woodward said.

"Forest E. Long, New York university, who will teach several courses during the first six weeks on Secondary Education, is one of the best known workers in the field in the United States. He will give three lecture courses as follows: "Organization and Administration of the Junior High School," "The Teacher's Part in School Administration," and "The Administration of Senior High Schools." He will also be on the lecture course.

For the Alpine Summer School, Dr. Harry N. Eaton, head of the Geology and Geography Departments of Elmire College, Elmire, New York, has been engaged. Dr. Eaton is a geologist with a great enthusiasm for the West which he knows rather thoroughly since he has spent considerable time in Utah and surrounding regions.

In addition to these teachers, there will be a number of nationally known men on the lecture course. These will include such well-known figures as Dr. Mark A. May of Yale University; Dr. H. G. Good, Department of Education at Ohio State University; Sander Joshi, an East Indian Philosopher and lecturer; J. Reuben Clark, Ambassador to Mexico; and others.

Amusement Outlined For Rest Of Week

A well-rounded program of evening entertainment for Leadership Week is one of the attractive offerings for the visitors of this week according to Dean Lowry Nelson, general chairman.

Music and lecture features have been secured which promise to be of special interest to the visiting guests. A resume of the evening programs includes the following presentations: Thursday—Concert, Brigham Young University Symphony Orchestra, directed by Professor LeRoy J. Robertson, Utah State Tabernacle, Inlander Delaracy, soloist. Friday—Drama, "The Butcher and Eggs Man"—College Hall, tickets 50 cents.

Brooklyn Writer Has High Praise for Hanson

David Gornston, writer of a column in The Brooklyn Citizen, which he calls, "Musical Angles," has recently published a "word of greeting" to his Brooklyn readers from Professor William F. Hanson, B. Y. U. music department head. It is interesting to note that Hanson has written a Sunday column of Mr. Gornston's feature, with only the following introduction from its original source:

"If you were to look up the name of William F. Hanson in the Encyclopedia of American Composers you would find some three or four pages telling about his two Indian operas—"Bear Dance" and "Sun Dance"—based on twenty years of life amongst these original Americans—and of the hundred odd songs that he has written about the cowboy, the ranger—and other phases of life in the West—and that he is Professor of Music at the Brigham Young University—and about other things that he has done—but you won't find anything in the encyclopedia dealing with the character of the man—I knew him only a few months—and had the privilege of composing and publishing two numbers with him—the actual hours spent in his company were comparatively few—yet—when I said good-bye to him in Times Square—and watched him disappear in the crowd—there was a bit of moisture in my eye—ladies and gentlemen—man—Professor William F. Hanson."

Thinking is the great enemy of perfection. The habit of profound reflection, I am compelled to say, is the most pernicious of all habits formed by civilized man.—Joseph Conrad.

MARTIN SPEAKS ON SOIL

Professor Thomas L. Martin of the Brigham Young University gave an interesting talk to Leadership week visitors on the topic of "Sweet Clover and Alfalfa and their relation to soil fertility." "Merely growing alfalfa and sweet clover does not necessarily add nitrogen to the soil," said Mr. Martin, "but some of these tops should be plowed under."

Mr. Martin went on to explain that leguminous plants add more elements to the soil in a better-proportioned way than do the non-leguminous plants and that it is the first instead of the latter that should be used as fertilizers.

Mr. Martin gave another lecture at 11:30 Wednesday morning in the Faculty room. The subject dealt with "What Chemical Analysis means to the Farmer."

Reynolds Addresses Literature Section

The Literature department in charge of Dr. P. A. Christensen enjoyed an interesting discourse upon the drama of our times, by Professor Alice Reynolds. The session was held at eleven-thirty in the Little Theatre.

Professor Reynolds discussed several of last-century plays as compared to a few of our modern plays now enjoying a successful run on Broadway. A number of striking and interesting occurrences in the plays were compared. According to Professor Reynolds a great change for the better has become apparent in drama within the last few years.

Robert Menzies, New York University, started in his team's 20 to 7 victory over Carnegie Tech, making a 42-yard touchdown run and kicking one punt 70 yards.

Carnival Is Cancelled

cerned with such affairs, the committee worked on the belief that faculty approval could be obtained under certain conditions. Not until early this week was it definitely learned that faculty approval to an overnight carnival under no conditions could be secured.

According to Mr. Crowther not even a one day carnival will be held, as the difficulty of securing transportation for students and the lateness of starting any activities on Saturday prohibits sponsoring such an affair.

Jensen Shows Tie Between Art-Home

"Art As Related To Home and Community Betterment" was the subject in which Edgar M. Jensen, principal of the training school, interested a large audience of art loving visitors in the faculty room Monday morning. "Our great need," says Mr. Jensen, "is for individuality in the community and in the separate homes which compose the community. Trees, effectively planted, add to the charm of gardens and streets can be used in the business section as well as in the residential districts of the city. The bi-centennial of the birth of George Washington will be observed throughout the nation by planting of living monuments in the form of trees."
